

Why Argentina?

Belatrix Software Factory has its main development center in Mendoza, Argentina. Argentina is a growing destination for offshore and near-shore outsourcing as it has many advantages over other traditional destinations, such as:

Closer time-zone. We are only 2 hours ahead of US' East Coast and 5 hours from CEST.

Regional political stability. No major wars or terrorist attacks in decades.

Cultural similarities. Western culture with European and US affinity.

Enjoyable environment. Nice and safe to travel to.

Low employee turn-over. Our turn-over rate is less than 10% annually.

Abundant talent. We can pick the best of the best.

Educational excellence. Argentina invests more per capita and as a percentage of GDP in education than almost any other developing country in the world. State-run Universities are completely free in Argentina and they also provide world-class education, this has helped create a very large pool of very talented and educated professionals.

Accessibility. It only takes a few hours to get to our offices. For example from Los Angeles, USA it takes about 8 hours to Santiago, Chile and then just 30 minutes from Santiago to Mendoza, Argentina.

Low costs. Our costs are similar to Indian rates and lower than those of Eastern European companies.

Strong Support of Federal Government. Argentina's government has provided a benefit package for those software companies that pass a demanding certification and audit process. Belatrix is now a certified company under this program, which provides fiscal and operative advantages.

We invite you to learn how a relationship with Belatrix will give your company a distinctive advantage through low cost, disciplined, and high quality software development and quality assurance services.
